FOREWORD

We, the Seniors at North Quincy High School, have spent our high school years in preparing for things to come. All our work, our achievements, and our fun have been not ends in themselves, but means by which we might attain our goal; by which we might become the better citizens of the future. To emphasize our theme of looking toward tomorrow we have designed our book with what we consider the most modern method of lay-out: integration of seniors with activities. Thus the Manet remains not only as a record of past occurrences but also as a symbol of our participation in the future . . .

DEDICATION

MR. JOHN W. WALSH

He is our intellectual principal, for he disciplines us to reason out our challenges; he is our cultural principal, for he captivates us to improve our tastes and to refine our manners; he is our moral principal, for by example he inspires us to live ethically and righteously; he is our realistic principal, for he spurs us to realize that our school record is a symbol of our future worth to our family, our country, and our God.

And so to our worthy principal, Mr. John W. Walsh, we fondly dedicate the Manet for 1958.

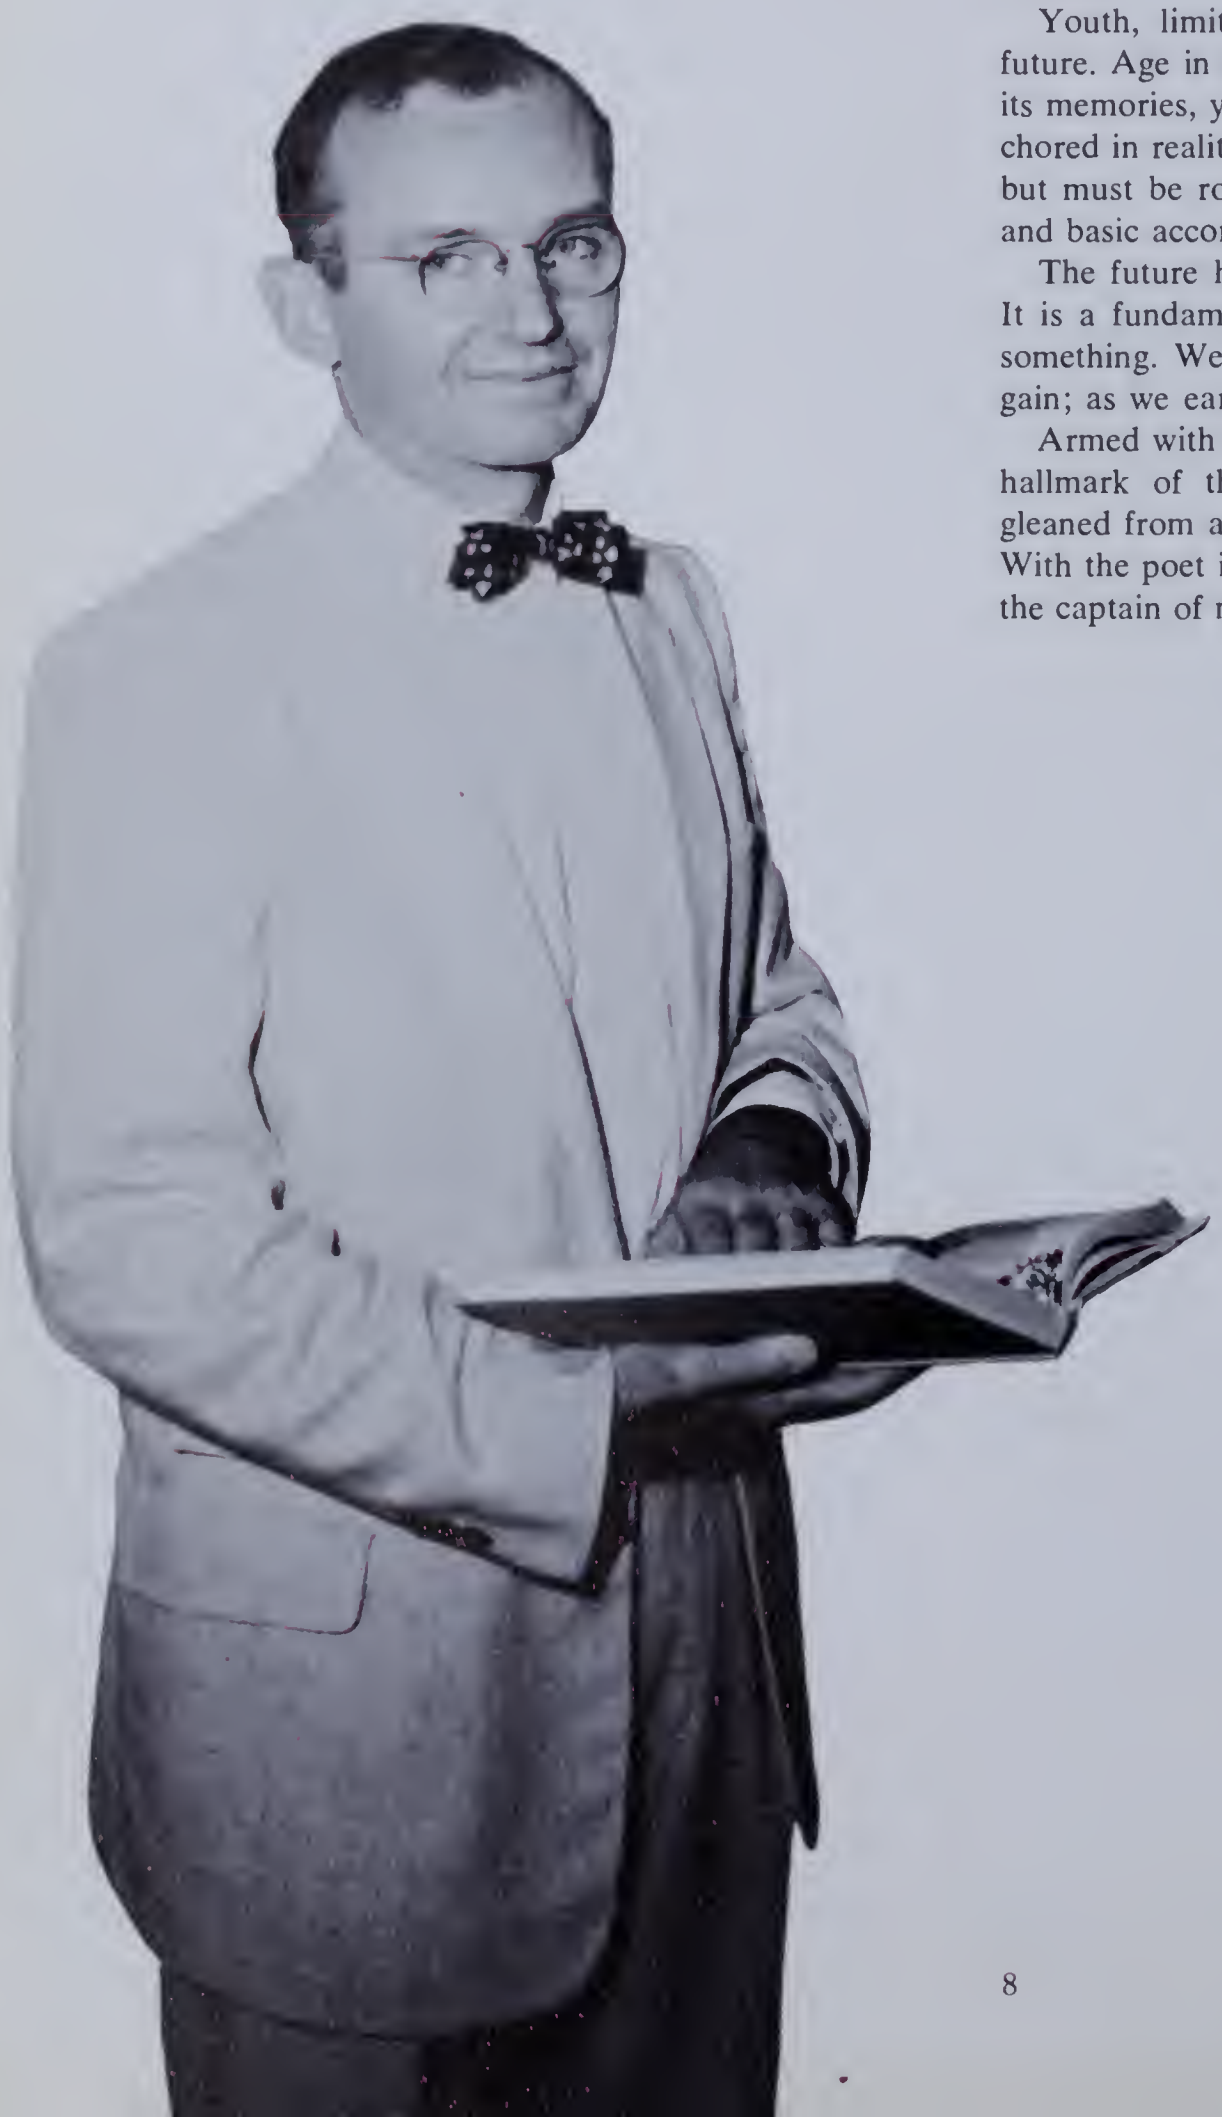
PRINCIPAL'S MESSAGE



When God gave faith He bestowed upon man His greatest gift. Because we have faith, we have hope, and it is with hope that we look to the future.

These are perilous times. Yet man's most magnificent achievements have often been born of trial. The world belongs to those who have the courage to meet its tests. No one can ever be lost while he possesses the life-giving gift of faith—faith in his country, in his people, in himself.

Youth, limited in tradition, naturally looks to the future. Age in turn can look only to the past. Age has its memories, youth its dreams. These very dreams, anchored in reality, have within them the seed of triumph, but must be rooted in the fertile ground of hard work and basic accomplishment to bear fruit.

The future holds for us no sure promise of success. It is a fundamental error to assume that life owes us something. We must realize that as we give so do we gain; as we earn so do we deserve.

Armed with faith and eager enthusiasm, which is the hallmark of the "teens," sobered with wise counsel gleaned from age, youth may resolutely face the future. With the poet it may say: "I am the master of my fate, the captain of my soul."

North opened against Stoughton. Although the underdog Raiders gave them a run for their pointage, Stoughton squeezed in on a conversion point to win 7-6. • Definitely outclassed (13-6) at North Attleboro, the Raiders' lone touchdown was the result of a Mahoney to Cooke pass. • North was again brutally overpowered by Taunton, although the score at 13-0 was no indication of the Raiders' fighting spirit and determination. The game was a heart-breaker for Ralph Ames who scored a T.D. in the first half that was called back because of an offside penalty. • Braintree entered into combat with North confident that they would fairly trample us. A determined North team, with the help of a sloppy field, held the Braintree eleven down until a desperation play by the quarterback bore fruit in a touchdown and a Braintree squeeze at 7-0. • Natick proved rough opposition for North's Raiders, outscoring them 27-6, with the only North T.D. coming via end Jim Baldwin. • All previous humiliations were vindicated the next week, however, as North trampled Dedham for a brutal 27-6. Instrumental in this first win were Ames and Travis who scored thrice and once respectively. • The Raiders next outdistanced Milton, with Mahoney scoring to win 7-6. • Turkey Day dawned on rather poor North prospects. The speed and agility of Quincy's Balducci proved too much for the Raiders as North went down to defeat in a crushing 18-7 romp.

Two more for Lefty

Coach Rickson

J. V. Coach Sinclair

With only four returnees from last year's team, it looked like a slim season for North. We entered the Greater Boston League, one of the strongest in the state, with freshman coach Ken Rickson at the helm. Although we dropped our first game to powerhouse Quincy, we rebounded to take Medford, 57-46 and to trounce Lowell, 63-46. Weymouth caught us on an off night, but we then nipped Revere, 43-39. We kept rolling, beating Malden and romping over Chelsea, but couldn't match Somerville, and Everett, two of the best teams in the state. We finished in the top half of the league, however, with Jim Baldwin, Sonny Scanlan, "Lefty" Fredericksen, Paul La Brecque, and Russ Landberg leading North's attack.

Coach Laing

Coach Laing's belligerent band of red-raider rangers, hampered by a lack of experience, entered the newly-formed Metropolitan League this year. Forward Charlie Neagle, defenseman Joe Pitts, and netminder Tom Lloyd were the only veterans. Getting up at all hours of the morning to practice, North's plucky puck-pushers appeared at the Arena every Thursday night. In their first appearance, they jolted Revere, 3-1, but their lack of experience told during the latter part of the season, as they finished well below top position.

Pre-game strategy

This year's ball club, better known as the boys in gray baggy pants, batted their way through a successful season. Under the coaching of Mr. Forrest and that perennial cut-up, Mr. Phillips, the boys improved day by day; the hits became longer, stronger, and more frequent, and the throws faster and more accurate as the scores prove.

Coach Meaney lines 'em up

Co-managers Judy Murphy and Sheila O'Keefe sight a pointer with Coach Meaney

Those boys you see running around the triangle in fall and running up and down the corridors in winter are not fleeing from the local gendarmes, for these are the members of our large and unusually successful track squad. With cross-country, winter track, and later spring track constantly keeping their pants up, the boys ran through almost all opposition, stopping only occasionally to let the Nose put the shot, usually through neighboring windows. However, with coaches Meaney and Gentry around to keep tabs, the boys beat Natick 48-29, and Cambridge Latin 46-31, but lost to Belmont 39-38. The biggest win of the season was, however, 2nd place in the State Meet with 23 points.

As athletes, the boys showed themselves to be no fumblers when it came to social activities either. This year, the club held a long-awaited semi-formal in addition to a record hop. To round out a full program, with Mr. Laing at the helm, the Club held a sumptuous banquet for the elite of the athletic world.

A pretty pyramid

Every Friday during the homeroom period Miss McCoy's Amazons gather to practice the stunts which thrill all of the crowds at many of North's sporting events. In their spare periods, these girls help Miss McCoy with her Junior Highers. With grace and skill achieved only through many hours of practice, they make the stunts look as easy as falling off a barstool. But try some of them yourself! The world's not so secure when you're on your head, is it? Of course, through all the fun, the ultimate goal of sportswomanship and teamwork is never forgotten.

Ugh-h!

Have you ever wondered where those boys go who leave homeroom at peculiar times? Chances are, they belong to the student leaders. Under the direction of Mr. Rickson, they spend at least one homeroom period a week in the practice of death-defying stunts on all kinds of equipment. For Mr. Rickson's time, these lineal descendants of Alley Oop reciprocate with help in his Junior High gym classes. In addition to their school activities, the Terrible Tarzans of Tomorrow provide several public performances throughout the year.

Last May, the results poured in: the irrepressible Jim Baldwin was chosen to head the pack; as his executive assistant, "Chickie" Caprera received the school's nod; as expected, the "Nose" won by considerably more than that; as ideal Secretary, "Buff" Christie was chosen to round out the complement of the fearsome four.

Upon these four sturdy shoulders fell the management of all important Senior activities. Their busy heads were buzzing all year long with the million-and-one details of a successful Senior year. With the Prom as their crowning achievement, the Officers deserve a resounding round of cheers for a year well managed.

An unbeatable combination of rock-and-roll record hops and financial wizardry resulted in a most successful in-the-black year for our Juniors in quite some span of years. With Tom Flanagan holding the whip, accompanied by assistant mule-skinner Sue Kelly, the officers drove themselves and their classmates to success. Tom Kelly constantly kept his fist on the moneybags and Linda Hardy noted down the year's activities with considerable agility. The Senior Class of '59 would do well to choose them to run the mule train again next year.

To fill the spot at the head of the council, Gene Schumacher was chosen. To add the feminine touch, two all-round girls, Judy Murphy and Paula Finn, were elected Vice-President and Secretary respectively. Keeper of the purse was Jimmy Greene. "Project Yakoo" kept the Council busy for a long while. Yakoo was unveiled at precisely 10 P.M. on November 29, a date that will surely live in the memories of all Red Raiders. In addition to this jolly new mascot, this year's industrious Council has put on assemblies, put out bulletins, and carried the ball for all first-line school projects.

"I TOLD you that you must use mental discipline but you just don't listen!" The cry rang loud, if a little shaky, from the portals of 405. "Of course, children, it's your book, but I can always get a new staff!!"

Well, somehow the flinching-four-plus-one staggered its way from September to June, little the worse for considerable wear.

Who could tell that the pile of messy script and cropped photos would ever be a Manet? But somehow we squeezed it all between two colorful covers, and began to peddle our wares. They sold rather rapidly, because of good quality, we like to think, and not because of lack of any other edition. We like to think also that the few glowering visages we saw did not represent a quorum of opinion.

It could have never been done without the cooperation of the five editors. We may have had our differences, but we pulled in the traces together when necessary, and ignored the whip which we believed was administered with love for the best interests of all. History will prove the prudence of this assumption.

Plenty of pep with or without shakers

A peppy N formation

Ghenghis Khan had nothing on these red-skirted hordes who pour upon the football field with savage glee. "N-O-R-T-H! Fight, team, fight!" Certainly any other name would be a misnomer for this troop of Girl Shouts who would liven up a funeral if given the chance.

Ragging it up

"Who's the leader of the club that's made for you and me? . . ." Hark! The band approaches. "The Eastern Mass is robbing the poor, parley voo!" The band has arrived. Every Monday and Thursday, during homeroom periods, anyone can hear the "full" ensemble giving the Boston Pops a run for its money. Now and then, Mr. Ferranti's voice can be heard emerging from the sweet tones: "Bruce, this is not the place for Spanish homework." Student Leader Jernegan swaps his stick of licorice for one of wood, and longhair is shed all over the stage. Moses himself would feel at home in our reeds, led by "Clem" and "Skip." Wherever the four winds blow, you can see our band doing likewise.

Class musicians Carole and Gerry go Scheherazade

Music, music, music! This is the cry of the largest group of songbirds at North in many years. Our more serious assemblies are happily graced by the sharps and flats of this versatile group. Do you want classical music? Semi-Classical? Light-Popular? Popular? Go to the Mixed Glee Club. They'll grind out any tune for a nominal fee: the inner satisfaction of music well-presented. Under the watchful eye of Mrs. Newman, and clad in flowing robes that make everyone over into a smooth uniformity, they produce notes that do "soothe the savage breast."

biology club

On Tuesday afternoons in Room 424, our future scientists and biologists can be seen arduously searching for the key to the wonders of nature. Guest speakers and field trips frequently add new ideas to the individual's storehouse of knowledge. Microscopes and various other types of equipment are available to the students to facilitate the pursuit of individual projects.

It is both a credit to Miss Schields and a source of pride to ourselves that such an organization as the Biology Club exists at our school, for it presents an excellent opportunity for the real student to further his knowledge.

atomic energy club

Atoms for peace

With the motto, "Be the first kid on your block to destroy the world," the Atomic Energy Club plots every Monday afternoon in 430, under the able direction of that scientific saboteur, our own lineal descendant of Enrico Fermi, Mr. Rubin. The conspirators are easily recognized by the fevered clicking of that Geiger Counter as the sadistic slipstickers look for the secret of the unclean bomb.

science research club

This past year, a new organization was instituted at North: the Science Research Club. On Wednesday afternoons Room 424 buzzes with activity as the charter members work on their particular atomic bomb plots. In the process, these young researchers learn all the skills of scientific inquisition: the making, staining, and reading of slides; bioluminescence, the study of animals which produce light and the nature of this light; and photosynthesis. With all these projects going full steam under Miss Schields it's no wonder the members have that bleary-eyed look.

nurses' career club

Ralph and Miss Gray: Who is wrapped around whose finger?

In the back of every Nurse's mind is the fond hope of a future rendezvous with some handsome doctor as love is born over the ether cone. Until that time, however, the bedpan brigade must go forth and practice the healing art on unwilling and often unsuspecting guinea pigs, until the M.D. of their dreams says with a smile, "How'd you like to go to a real swingin' pathology party, Nurse?"

Motivated interest!

With the Junor High as their human guinea pigs, the members of the Teachers' Career Club are often found putting their pet theories into practice during homeroom and study periods. With Cyn as headmaster, the girls learned the ABC's of teaching through observation and actual practice. From the initial breakfast meeting in September to the final picnic in June, the year offered much invaluable preparation for these future educators of America.

radio-t.v. club

It has been said that radio and television are the best mass-media to be developed in years, and these disciples of the vacuum tube, directed by Miss McConarty with Bruce Nordstrom as their president, are wasting no time in filching a hefty chunk of that experience for themselves. Once a year, they invade the facilities of WJDA and emanate a little for experience and try their hand at commercial broadcasting. Possibly they should concentrate their efforts in eliminating the TV commercial —that would indeed be a service to mankind worthy of an Emmy.

dramatic club

"The theater is dying," wrote Richard Rogers. Not so at North! Still in its fledgling years, this talented group of modern Shakespeareans rollick their way through comedy and tragedy alike. "Arsenic and Old Lace" rolled on the scene in the late fall and was greeted with uproarious acclaim. Broadway was definitely never like this! Directed by Mr. Maloof, a man whose talent is being recognized in his first enterprise, the Drama Club deftly steal each scene and make it uniquely their own.

These mural maniacs will abstractly bedeck anything in sight and have no qualms about the creation of six-foot snowmen and bigger Yakoos. "May I help you?"

The sentries take their posts.

The Junior High looks at them with scorn, while the seniors think of the poor girl who must be nice to everyone and still get the ol' homework done for next period. Just once they would like their opening question answered: "No, thank you, I'm just browsing."

rifle club

A car pulls to a halt in a darkened schoolyard. A group of armed figures slink out into the night. A murmur arises as a door creaks open, and darkened forms file inside. A moment later, lights flash on. Cracks of rifle fire break out. No, it's not an invasion, it's the North Quincy High Rifle Club practicing in the basement of the Squantum School. Mr. Burgess and his riflemen (girls, too) will pit their skills against any foolhardy challenger. Even Wyatt Earp and Annie Oakley pale before these sharpshooters.

Lights out! Start 'er up! The Motion Picture Operators' Club rolls into action again! Under the able direction of our own Mike Todd, Mr. Gentry, these boys learn the reel skills of motion picture operation. However, their assistance is invaluable to teachers, who are able to make class work more bearable through the use of visual aids. The influence of these people extends even into the obscure hierarchy of the Student Council, who team up with the M.P.O.C. to present entertaining and educational films to the students at assemblies.

Every Monday evening at the new Y, 45 enthusiastic girls can be found planning a new Tri-Hi-Y activity. Whenever these girls put their heads together, you can be sure the result is worth waiting for. This year held a first for Tri: the December semi-formal put on in collaboration with the Varsity Club. Along with the fun, however, the aim of Tri is never forgotten: "to create, maintain, and extend throughout the home, church, and community, high standards of Christian character." With that admirable ideal in mind, the girls plan and present each activity with the utmost success.

Herb and Sheila, fun-loving prexies

These are the male counterparts of the YWCA's Tri-Hi-Y. Like them, their emphasis is on relaxation and community service. Results? Pure enioyment gleaned from activities ranging from splash parties to community projects!

for over 20 years
... and with our loyal supporters ...

In September the staff and I set a goal for ourselves: "The 1958 Manet is going to be you, the class of 1958—past, present, and future."

And it was my job to make that goal the reality that you now hold in your hands. I could never have done it alone. It was only with the help of many people that the challenge was met and the goal achieved. And so to Mr. John Hofferty, our experienced faculty adviser; to Mr. James Bleiler, our ace photographer; to Mr. Roswell Farnham, the voice of Keller Press; to Miss Esther Morrison and Mrs. Sally Hannon, our bankers; to our Staffs — Editorial, Advertising, Patrons, and Typing; to Bob, Bruce, Bill, and Bruce, my indispensable co-workers; and finally to you, my classmates, I say, "Thank you and God bless you!"

For Quincy youth . . . career opportunities with a company that serves all America

Boston Gear transmission products are sold and used "wherever wheels turn" throughout the United States and Canada. To serve this far-reaching market, the company's operations extend from coast to coast, requiring a large staff of qualified employees.

For Quincy youth, this offers the advantage of home-town employment with future prospects that are unrestricted.

Any employee can move "up the ladder" as fast and as far as his ability and enterprise can take him. Over 85% of Boston Gear's executive group are local men and women who have won their titles in this way.
